

An Auspicious Audience

In December 2013, Tulku Lobsang Rinpoche was deeply honored to receive a private audience with His Holiness the 14th Dalai Lama in New Delhi, India.

Knowing the importance of this meeting, Rinpoche decided to show His Holiness all the teachings Rinpoche gives in the West. Rinpoche gave His Holiness samples of his publications (books, DVDs, CDs), and an accounting of the Nying Drod-Warm Heart project. He also presented a copy of his newest book, Tsa Lung – Ancestor Yogi and Yogini Great Path of Liberation, which is a compendium Rinpoche explained how he teaches these practices, that he has been training Westerners to be Educators and Teachers as well, and that he created a certification program to ensure teachers receive the proper transmission of the lineage and maintain the highest standard of teaching.

His Holiness reviewed everything and showed interest in Rinpoche's work and Tibetan people—giving His historic approval to publicly teach Lu Jong. Rinpoche was very happy to receive this instruction and approval from His Holiness.

Rinpoche left the meeting inspired to begin bringing the Lu Jong practice to the Tibetan people, to return to them a precious cultural treasure. Less than one year later, this is precisely what he did. (See Article, "Tibetan Treasure Tour", p. 34) of the entire Tantrayana Buddhist Tsa Lung practice. Written in Tibetan, this book is dedicated to preserving one of Tantrayana Buddhism's oldest and most powerful practices. The book has already been well received at monasteries throughout India and Tibet.

teachings. He even advised Rinpoche to go further with the teachings. Appreciating the benefits that the Lu Jong practice can bring to people's everyday health and happiness, His Holiness requested that Rinpoche bring the Lu Jong practice to the Tulku Lobsang Rinpoche is deeply grateful to His Holiness the 14th Dalai Lama for giving him the opportunity to present his work and for the wisdom and encouragement His Holiness shared during the meeting. It is Rinpoche's sincere wish that by sharing Lu Jong with Tibetans and the entire world, all sentient beings will have better health and happiness.
